HOOVER DECLARES
HE WANTS TO RID CIVILIZATION OF EVILS OF LIQUOR

Writes to Dr. Daniel A. Poling That 'We Must Revive Energies of States' to Deal With Problems of Traffic.

MAY DISAGREE ON METHOD OF ACTION

Letter Given Out by Prohibition Leader Who Thinks President Is 'Decisively, Personally and Politically Dry.'

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—President Hoover considers himself on common ground with the prohibitionist in a desire to rid this civilization of the evils of the liquor traffic."

He made this statement in a letter to Dr. Daniel A. Poling which was made public by the chairman of the allied dry forces for prohibition. Poling had telegraphed the President indorsing him for re-election, and in giving out parts of the Chief Executive's reply made under date of August 22, he gave his indorsement of Mr. Hoover.

When he gave out the letter, Poling told reporters he considers Mr. Hoover is "decisively, personally and politically dry." He then described Gov. Frank D. Roosevelt as "personally dry and politically wet."

Letter of Hoover.

The letter of President Hoover contains the following sentences quoted by Dr. Poling:

There are many moral and spiritual problems before us, to which you have given so much to us, of years of devoted service.

We are on common ground in a desire to rid this civilization of the evils of the liquor traffic. We may not all agree on method as I have come to the belief that we must, through constructive and not destructive changes, revive the energies of the states to deal with the new evils, with Federal constitutional guarantees against the return of the old evils.

We must drive steadily toward disarmament and world peace. We must fight for economic recovery, not only for its material values, but we must secure from this period a revaluation of the purposes of life and shift our drift from materialism to higher aims of individual and national ideals. We must awaken a sense of national consciousness of the purpose of life itself. We must contend every moment for the wider development of free men and women through the one road to that end, that is, loyalty to a country and a half of our own American inspirations.

Vote on Hoover Indorsement.

The Executive Committee of the allied forces voted 152 to 15 to indorse Mr. Hoover. Dr. Poling said, although its membership was divided on the President's proposed changes in the prohibition laws, most of them were from the North and many will support Mr. Hoover personally.

The dry leader added: "We support Hoover with a recognized difference of opinion as to the program that will be followed in the next Congress."

Dr. Poling said his organization would work for the election of dry candidates for the House and Senate and their decision as to individuals they would support would be reached on the basis of individual campaign. He placed his organization's present financial status at $11,000 in cash and $4,000 in pledges.

COMPTROLLER TO REPORT
CITY DEFICIT OF $651,799

Amount Is Less Than Estimate and Is Attributed to Relief Appropriation.

The city's deficit for the fiscal year which ended on April 11 was $651,799, it will be shown in the Comptroller's annual report, now being printed.

Deputy Comptroller Gunn had estimated the deficit at $675,000 the day after the fiscal year closed. Since then there has been some adjustment of accounts. The deficit at the end of the previous year, in April 1931, was $95,342. The current deficit is almost entirely due to the appropriation of $600,000 for public relief.

CHAPLIN PLANS SUIT TO KEEP HIS SONS
OUT OF THE MOVIES

Wants Children, 5 and 6, to Have Normal Boyhood and Choose Own Careers.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24.—Council for Charlie Chaplin said yesterday he intended to file, possibly by tomorrow, a court petition contesting the right of his divorced wife, Lila Grey Chaplin, to take her two young sons into the movies without his consent.

The former Mrs. Chaplin has had custody of the children since the divorce some five years ago. She recently signed a contract for herself and the boys, Charles Jr., 6 years old, and Sidney Earl, 5, to appear in pictures for Fox Film Studio.

Chaplin's lawyer, Loyd Wright, said the comedian felt his sons were too young to subject them to the influences of a movie career, that they should have the best opportunity for normal boyhood development, and be allowed in later years to select their own careers—movie or otherwise. Chaplin also was represented as feeling that he had made ample financial provision for the boys.

Mrs. Chaplin is reported to have received a $650,000 settlement in the divorce and $1000 a month for support and education of the children.

I. C. C. GIVES PERMISSION FOR CUT IN COTTON RATES

Southern Carriers Are Notified Reductions May Be Put Into Effect.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today notified Southern carriers that they might put into effect reduced rates on cotton from the South and Southwest to New Orleans, New England and Canada.

The new rates become effective to New England points from Arkansas, Southern Missouri and Western Louisiana on Aug. 27 and from other points on Sept. 6.

The rates for the first time in the history of the cotton industry are established on a carload basis. Heretofore cotton rates have been on what is known as an "any quantity" basis, one bale could be shipped at the same rate as a carload.

Under the new rates the cost is scaled downward from 45 cents for a minimum carload of 20,000 pounds to 30 cents for a 50,000-pound load.

Some large cotton shippers and the large lines operating on the Mississippi River opposed the rates.

The Inland Waterways Corporation said it would take similar action as soon as a schedule of rates can be worked out. The policy of the corporation is to make its rates 20 per cent below those maintained by the railroads.

HERO OF GREENLAND ICE CAP
RESCUE DROWNED IN CANOE

H. G. Watkins, Who Saved Augustine Courtauld Last Year, Loses Life in Eskimo Boat.

By the Associated Press. ANGMAGSALIK, Greenland, Aug. 24.—H. G. Watkins, who rescued Augustine Courtauld from the Greenland ice cap in May last year, was killed today when his kayak, a one-man Eskimo canoe, upset in the cabin.

Watkins had established himself as a distinguished explorer and had won the Royal Geographic Society medal. Shortly before he set out on his expedition he became engaged to marry Miss Margaret Rose Graham.

The kayak is a difficult craft to operate. This expedition had several accidents and the members took a course of training in navigating them.

ROOSEVELT BARS
POLITICAL QUERIES
IN WALKER CASE

Refuses to Let State Senator Westfall Testify on Origin of Hofstadter Investigating Committee.

MAYOR SOUGHT TO SHOW G. O. P. PLOT

Successful Bidder on New York Light Standards Defends City Executive at Ouster Hearing.

By the Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt today ruled against the introduction of political testimony at the ouster hearing against Mayor James J. Walker. He decided Walter W. Westfall, a Republican State Senator from Westchester County, would not reply to questions regarding the origin of the Hofstadter Legislative Committee.

Westfall was the first of the Republicans. He said his assailants held hot irons and matches to his skin, pulled out his toe nails with pliers, and kicked him. The supposed hidden wealth did not exist, according to Pearce, and the robbers obtained only $28, a watch, and several trinkets.

This was the answer given by one of his secretaries to reports that he would deliver a campaign address in New York and probably make one or two more speeches in the Middle West.

"His job is here, fighting the depression," the secretary said. If he gets an opportunity to get out between rounds and do something he will do it, but if his job requires him to stay here, he will stay."

RAIL STOCKS PULL MARKET
INTO UP TURN NEAR CLOSE

Losses in Several Leading Issues Are Mostly Recovered; Trading Decreases.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Railroad issues pulled the stock market out of confused price movements into an upturn in the late trading today.

Shares of a group of the hard coal carrying roads went up $4 to more than $10 a share, and losses of $1 to $2 or more recorded by several of the leading issues in the middle of the day were mostly recovered. Advances of $1 to $2 a share were numerous at the close.

Trading slackened considerably, the day's total turnover approximating 3,500,000 shares, or roughly a million less than yesterday's.

Trading in shares developed a feverish pace in the late trading, and the ticker ran for some minutes after the closing gong. Bonds like stocks had reacted substantially, only to stiffen in the final dealing.

A buoyant rise in cotton helped the share market, that staple getting up about $2.50 a bale, making one of the sharpest advances in this market of the year. Grains, however, were sluggish.

MISSOURI RETAILERS URGE STATE DRY LAW REPEAL

Also Against Eighteenth Amendment; Resolution Carries by Only Six Votes.

By the Associated Press. POPLAKE BLUFF, Mo., Aug. 24.—The Missouri Retail Merchants Association today adopted resolutions trying to urge immediate repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the Missouri bone dry law. The convention also adopted a resolution endorsing all candidates regardless of party affiliation.

For legislation, Congress who had repealed dry laws, had passed a resolution calling for repeal of section 223 of the Missouri statutes which sets aside Sept. 28 as Frances Willard day and makes compulsory that one quarter of a school day each year in public schools be set aside for instructions as to the history and benefits of prohibition. The resolution on prohibition passed after much debate and by a majority of only six votes.

Fred A. Tyler of Kansas City was elected president of the association. The election of Tyler followed a concerted effort on the part of Kansas City, St. Joseph and Joplin delegates to get control of the convention. Tyler succeeded Harvey L. Fornier of St. Louis, who committed St. Louis to the chairmanship.

Other candidates chosen were Ed E. Glenn, Kansas City; Victor M. Rath, St. Louis; Fred Fischer, St. Louis; L. E. Mann, Kansas City; and Haskell E. Bloodworth, Poplar Bluff. J. T. Westfall of St. Louis was named secretary; George G. Corner, Kansas City, treasurer, and Max Rubenstein, St. Louis, sergeant-at-arms.

Rosenthal and Roy were arrested last Friday after officers reported finding Pearce's watch and several other articles taken in the holdup, in Malicott's residence in Granite City. The home was searched again yesterday and the officers found a sawed-off shotgun wrapped in newspaper. Pearce had stated that one of his assailants carried a weapon, which the reclusive described as a machine gun.

Pearce has been employed at the National Stockyards for 10 years, and lives with his wife and two children at 14 Pennsylvania Avenue.

Neither Rosenthal nor any of the others has a police record.

A PARTY of 900, including 20 women, started from Belleville today to join the march on Benton. Estimates of the total number in the caravan run as high as 25,000.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

PINCKNEYVILLE, Ill., Aug. 24.—A caravan of striking miners nine miles long was halted on the edge of town here at 2:45 p. m. today by a squad of deputies under Sheriff Albert C. Davis, and agreed to wait there until a State highway patrolman included in the group of officers could call Springfield for instructions.

The miners, intent on invading

Franklin County in protest against the operation of mine owners under the new reduced wage scale, found their progress blocked as they neared the city limits, by automobiles parked across the road.

Sheriff Davis and the leaders of the miners held a few minutes of discussion before the State patrolman arrived. The patrolman was told by Sheriff Davis that there were not enough deputies available to stop the advance. The miners then asked the miners to wait until he called his headquarters at Springfield for instructions. The miners agreed and retired to their cars to await his return from the telephone in Pinckneyville.

It was the second attempt made to stop the caravan. At Swanwood, a crossroads village in northern Perry County, nine deputies stopped the procession and told the miners they could not proceed. Both sides went into conference and after a few minutes the deputies reversed their stand and told the miners they could go on at least as far as Pinckneyville.

O'Malley lost his life in searching for the body of C. Frank James, 52 years old, who disappeared Monday night after going fishing alone. James is thought to have been thrown into the water and drowned when the outboard motor on his boat fell off and jarred the craft.

Mrs. James, his widow, offered a $1000 reward for recovery of the body and it was in seeking the reward that O'Malley was drowned. The body of James, a greenhouse owner of Neodesha, Kan., has not been found.

O'Malley, who lived at 4149 W. Perry Avenue, was a former gasoline station proprietor here but sold his station several weeks ago and went to Starbuck to spend the summer with his aunt, Mrs. Nellie Hester Mullin of Pine Lake, who has a cottage there. Mrs. O'Malley, two brothers and two sisters, is survived by her mother, Mrs. Dele O'Malley, two brothers and two sisters.

STEINBERG OFFER FORMALLY PLACED BEFORE CREDITORS

Hearing Adjourned Until Sept. 26, After Which Objections to Proposals Will Be Heard by Referee.

HEAD OF FIRM EXPLAINS TRUST

Adopted Idea on Advice of Attorneys — Expects to Raise $250,000 From Friends.

The closed brokerage firm of Marc C. Steinberg & Co. is sending circulars to general creditors to obtain their acceptances of its composition offer of 20 per cent in cash and 80 per cent in notes.

The offer was made formally yesterday at the conclusion of a two-day meeting of creditors before Referee in Bankruptcy Plevman in the Federal Building. Details of the offer had been given to creditors previously.

The meeting was adjourned until Sept. 26 to permit creditors to consider the offer, which may be accepted or rejected by a vote of creditors with a majority in number and amount of allowed claims. If the offer is accepted, the firm will file an application for confirmation of the composition and a date will be set for hearing of objections.

If Offer Is Rejected.

Should the offer be rejected, the firm's assets would be distributed to creditors through Bankruptcy Court and the nine partners would be relieved of their remaining debts except those not legally discharged in bankruptcy.

The question of whether creditors would fare better by accepting the offer or permitting an administration in bankruptcy was raised yesterday by attorneys for some of the claimants.

Edward W. Tobin and Karol Korngold, representing creditors, inquired how the composition offer would affect customers whose "free" securities had been, as they expressed it, "converted" by the firm in pledging them to banks which sold them on the day after the receivership.

Steinberg previously had admitted that about 80 per cent of "free" securities had been pledged "unwittingly through mistake," and the auditor had estimated that the pledged "free" securities amounted to about $51,000.

Louis Mayer, attorney for the firm, said the offer provided for creditors of this class and that his interpretation of it was that they would have the opportunity to establish the priority of their claims, or, failing to do so, would receive the cash and notes with other creditors.

Steinberg was asked why he had not offered to give his personal notes instead of notes of a trust in which the junior partners had small shares.

His Reason for Trust.

"It is my ambition to pay the creditors in full," he replied. "When I told my lawyers of this they advised me not to go before a referee in bankruptcy and talk of paying in full because that would be an old story to him. They said that if I gave my personal notes I might be back in bankruptcy court in short order."

"I thought it over and evolved the present plan as the best evidence of my intention to pay in full. While the liability of the junior partners on the trust notes is limited to 10 years, my liability is to be unlimited."

Asked whether the giving of personal notes would hamper him in a new business venture, he said it would probably have that effect. "If I show a liability of $500,000 in notes and no asset but ambition," he said, "it might hinder me in credit matters."

Steinberg said he intended to raise about $250,000 from friends and relatives to enable him to make the 20 per cent cash payment and to take care of receivability expenses.

His $442,000 Home.

When attorneys sought to learn whether the picturesqueness of Steinberg country estate on Warson road was available to firm creditors, Steinberg replied that it was placed in the names of himself and his wife jointly in 1922. This would place it beyond reach of creditors. He said his and his wife paid Harry F. Knight $25,000 for the property and had spent about $100,000 on furnishings and $50,000 on improvements.

The eight junior partners also were examined yesterday. Each testified he had little in personal assets and owed substantial sums to the firm, representing his share in the firm's losses during the last three years.

The junior partners are Paul E. Poltason, J. S. McCourtney, Gordon Scherck, Hunter Breckenridge, Irwin R. Harris, John Grunkin Jr., Robert A. Waddell and Charles H. Patton. Steinberg owns 83 per cent of the firm. Most of the junior partners have entered other brokerage businesses.

The composition offer proposed what is termed a payment of 100 per cent to general creditors, with a cash payment of 20 per cent and the remaining 80 per cent in trust notes, maturing Jan. 2, 1942, to be paid out of earnings of the partnership.

Miners March on Franklin County

representatives of the law enforcement agencies of Williamson County, to the south, and Perry and Randolph counties, each to the west. During the course of the meeting, Mrs. Robinson, speaking for her husband, told reporters that all the counties had agreed to stop the marchers at their borders.

Dowell Said for Tonight.

The goal of the caravan is Dowell, a small mining village in the northeastern corner of Jackson County, five miles west of the Franklin County line and 26 miles from Benton, the seat of Franklin County.

When the caravan from Belleville reached Tilden, on the northern edge of Randolph County, about 2 p. m., State highway policemen told members of the delegation that 1500 automobiles bearing protesting miners had passed there since 11 o'clock this morning on their way south from northern mining towns.

The column, gathering recruits as they proceeded, were greeted by shouts and cheers as they passed through each town. Women and children lined the roadside waving flags and shouting words of encouragement.

The traffic along all highways to the south was almost continuous. Here and there miners dropped out of the procession to repair mechanical failures and flat tires on their cars or to eat lunches they had taken with them. They were on their way again in a few minutes, dropping into the caravan wherever there was a gap.

To get to Dowell the caravan must pass through Perry County. Some contingents must go through Randolph, unless they decide to make a wide detour. What if any steps were taken at the conference to keep them out of these counties, was not announced.

It was generally agreed, however, that if the miners reach Dowell and make camp there tonight they will have scored a tactical victory. Jackson County authorities, having only a few small mines to protect, have announced they will make no opposition to the marchers provided they create no disorder in the county, whose chief industries are farms, factories and railroads.

The marchers, coming from far north, Peoria and Pekin and far east as Danville, have been warned by their leaders to take no arms on the trip and have been told that indulgence in liquor would inevitably defeat their aims and alienate the sympathy of the public.

Nevertheless, leaders of many of the contingents told their men that they were going into Franklin County, regardless of the opposition, since it is there that the new wage scale, despite heavy opposition of the rank and file, is getting a foothold.

20 WOMEN AMONG BELLEVILLE GROUP

Protesting miners of the Belleville subdistrict, a party of nearly 900, including 20 women, started from Belleville at 10 a. m. today for Dowell, where diggers from the other areas plan to concentrate tonight for a movement on the Franklin County mines tomorrow.

There were 78 passenger automobiles and trucks in the caravan which started from Knights of Pythias grove on West Main street, the gathering place of the miners earlier in the morning. The groups were divided into sections, led off according to the local union membership.

A stanchion point from entry to Franklin County on several roads, but local authorities fear the marching miners will leave their automobiles there and enter the county by foot over little known byways, guided by sympathetic diggers of this district, of whom there are many.

Thus it is that many deputies were sworn in here last night and today and every man in the county who wants the miners to run was arming himself. In Williamson County, battalions in many a historic fight, deputies were sworn in, by the hundreds and told to stand by for call either from their own authorities or from Franklin County.

No Call for State Troops.

In the face of the invasion, however, Sheriff Robinson is understood to have told Adjutant-General Black that he expected by midnight that the National Guard would not be needed, although four companies, recalled from summer encampment, are standing by under arms in their armories at Springfield and Decatur.

"We don't need the troops," the Sheriff told the Adjutant-General. "I need help, I'll get it from our people down here. We can handle the situation by ourselves."

Two National Guard officers are here with instructions to keep the Adjutant-General apprised of developments in the situation. They are Maj. O. J. MacAdam, a veteran of World War, and Capt. Edward Edmonson, executive officer of the regiment, and Capt. Harry L. Bolen, who is in Perry County. Col. Davis was in charge of troops in Williamson County during the Ku Klux Klan disturbances.

Benton took on the aspects of a town about to meet an attack under military strategy as the morning wore on. Armed men congregated about the Sheriff's office in the jail. Deputies toured the community in automobiles. Telegraphic reports were received every few minutes from "the outside."

"Two hundred sixty-nine automobiles and 19 trucks have just left Springfield," "Eleven cars on the way from Topeka," "Thirteen cars starting from Kincardine"—so the dispatches ran.

It was announced today that an airplane had been placed at the disposal of Sheriff Robinson. It is to be used in keeping the county defenders apprised of the movements of the invading column.

scale, announced last night that meetings of the miners, regular or especially called, had been forbidden during the present emergency.

"The men would never be able to walk into Taylorville if it hadn't been for a meeting of the local at Taylor last week," he said.

"After the meeting, he voted to call all out of mine there was no choice except to let the miners come into the county, since there were a lot of protesters inside the county. That won't happen down here."

A carnival spirit prevailed. "Little Cigar," the Italian lad who kept the picket line in Christian County in good spirits with his accordion music, pumped away at his instrument early today, entertaining the crowds.

Blankets and bedding protruded from the automobiles at all corners. At the first night's camp the men will stay in the city park at Dowell, which they were given permission to use. They will sleep in the cars and on the ground.

Sixty leaders of the organization objective of the march could be attained in three days at the most. At the end of that time they said they expected to have the mines closed in Franklin and Williamson Counties.

Steamer Sinks in River.

Women Picket Mine While Men Are Marching.

GILLESPIE, Ill., Aug. 24.—One hundred women went on picket duty today at the Langleys' home in Taylorville while hundreds of men in Christian County to join the march down the state line.

Women were organized here yesterday by Mary Casper, local leader. The Peabody Coal Co. announced more than 150 men went down the shaft under guard of Sheriff's deputies and coal was being hoisted.

A procession was divided into sections, led off according to the local union membership.

S. L. Jones, head of Radium local, is leader of the protesting group in Belleville. The route chosen for the 88-mile run was over Highway 12 to Pyatt, east to DuQuoin, thence south of Dowell. It was planned that miners from New Athens, Lanesburg, Marissa, Tilden, Coulterville and Pinckneyville should join the train as it reached those towns.

"We are going down there by invitation," they said, "and they're in sympathy with us."

Strip Mine in Henry County Closed to Prevent Trouble.

ATKINSON, Ill., Aug. 24.—The strip mine operated by the Midland Electric Coal Co. was idle this afternoon for the first time since its opening in 1929, the workers quitting the diggs rather than the company with pickets from downstate. One hundred union miners had been employed. The annual output has been $80,000 tons.

"We are unarmed and under orders to see that no one does any drinking. We are determined to enter Franklin County peacefully, and if they try to stop us no one can say what the consequences will be."

A procession of 12 trucks and 180 passenger automobiles, carrying some 1100 protesting miners from Central Illinois mine districts, passed through Belleville within an hour after the similar cavalcade of Belleville subdistrict miners had started for Dowell. The Central Illinois group planned to overtake the Belleville procession at Marissa, and to proceed to Dowell with the Belleville and Marissa miners.

About 80 women were in the company. The leading truck, loaded with provisions and carrying 20 men, bore a large American flag, and smaller flags were displayed on many cars following.

MOTOR CARAVAN LEAVES STAUNTON

STAUNTON, Ill., Aug. 24.—A motor caravan four miles long, carrying striking miners, left here today for an invasion of the Southern Illinois coal fields, where they will attempt to dislodge their fellow miners from working under the reduced wage scale.

About 2000 of the diggers were from Springfield, Ill., where they had gathered this morning for an

DR. WALKER CALLED 'MEDICAL RACKETEER'

Witness Says Mayor's Brother Was Paid by City Without Rendering Any Service.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Dr. William Walker, brother of the Mayor, was termed "a symptom and a sample of a great medical racket" by a witness before the Grievance Committee of the State Board of Medical Examiners today.

Paul Blanchard, executive director of the City Affairs Committee, so described the Mayor's brother at a preliminary hearing of the Grievance Committee. He made his statement in continuation of his opening remarks that he did not wish to make Dr. Walker an isolated victim of charges of fee splitting by the Grievance Committee.

Blanchard said the City Affairs Committee charged Dr. Walker and his associates with fraud against the city in three particulars.

"The city paid Dr. Walker large sums of money through his associates without Dr. Walker rendering the service for that money," he said. "In a number of cases the city paid some of these doctors for fake services described by fake bills.

"Finally, the money received by Dr. Walker was claimed ordinary graft and no man reading the Seabury testimony (before the Hofstaetter Legislative Committee) can reach any other conclusion."

Dr. Walker was not present to-day.

Accused with Dr. Walker are Dr. Harris Feinberg, Edward L. Brennan, Thomas J. O'Mara and Alfred Cassassa. All were informed that their presence was optional.

Dr. Cassassa was the only one of them on hand when the hearing began.

The first action of the committee was to rule that fee-splitting in itself would not be considered prima facie evidence of fraud. In announcing this decision, Dr. Moses Keschner, acting chairman of the committee, said four of the eight paragraphs in the charges filed against Dr. Walker and the four other physicians by the City Affairs Committee would have to be substantiated by proof.

Another Stench Bomb in GAYETY THEATER LOBBY

Second Attack in Three Days at Movie Where Non-Union Men Are Hired.

A second stench bomb was thrown into the lobby of the Gayety Theater, Fourteenth and Locust streets, last night. The first attack was on Sunday afternoon, several hours after the theater was opened for the season as a movie house, employing nonunion projection machine operators.

Police were unable to find any one who saw the bomb thrown last night.

A fake bomb, thrown in the lobby of the theater today, proved when examined by police to be a cheap clock, inclosed in a pasteboard box with two exhausted dry cell batteries taped to its sides. A short length of clothesline served as the mock fuse.

A stench bomb was thrown through the front entrance of a restaurant adjoining the theater, also being picketed by union members. Police remained in the restaurant a short time, as the bomb was not thrown far beyond the door step.

the City of New York is bound to result."

This prediction was in a brief filed with Justice Elmer J. Staley by John J. Curtin, chief of the Mayor's legal staff. The brief was Curtin's last word in the Mayor's motion to restrain Gov. Roosevelt from passing on his right to retain office. The motion was argued before Justice Staley Monday. He is expected to rule on it Friday.

"If the Governor," Curtin said, "acts in excess of his jurisdiction and removes the Mayor, a chaotic condition in the City of New York is bound to result."

"The city government will, as a practical matter, be almost entirely prevented from functioning; every act of the president of the Board of Aldermen, who under the charter would succeed him, would be questioned; every act of the Board of Estimate in the meetings of which he sat would be questioned."

'FLYING FAMILY' CONTINUES ITS TRIP TO EUROPE

Hutchinsons Leave St. John, N. B., on 300-Mile Hop to Anticosti Island, Gulf of St. Lawrence.

ANOTHER PLANE AT HARBOR GRACE

Clyde Lee and John Bochko Continue Successfully but Second Ship Bound for Oslo Crashes.

By the Associated Press
ST. JOHN, N. B., Aug. 24.—The "Flying Hutchinsons," bound from New York to London over the Arctic route, took off this afternoon for Anticosti Island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, their second stop.

This stage of the journey will make them something more than 400 miles to the northeast. From Anticosti they go on to Greenland, Canada and England.

It was 1:42 p. m. Eastern standard time, when the plane started, a little behind schedule because the party waited to repair a motion picture camera, which Hutchinson intends to use on the trip. Flying conditions were ideal.

The party arrived here on schedule at 4:05 p. m. yesterday, five hours and 58 minutes after the New York takeoff. The party comprises George Hutchinson, his wife, two daughters and crew of four.

Crash Forces Two of Flyers to Abandon Trip to Oslo.

By the Associated Press.

HARBOUR GRACE, Newfoundland, Aug. 24.—Anxiety for two pairs of aspiring Atlantic flyers was ended today with reports that one plane had landed safely at Harbour Grace, and that the other had crashed 50 miles away with an injury to the flyers. Both planes were long overdue.

The plane reported to have crashed was that of Thor Solberg and Carl Petersen, which left Floyd Bennett Field, New York City, yesterday morning. The ship was said to be so severely damaged that the flight would have to be abandoned.

After a night of anxiety, Clyde Lee and John Bochko, who started from Barre, Vt., yesterday, brought their plane down to a safe landing at Harbour Grace at 7:20 a. m. Eastern Standard time. Their next scheduled stop is Oslo, Norway, which was also the destination of the Solberg-Petersen plane.

The aviators said they flew about in the fog during the early part of the night. They finally decided to take no chances of damaging their plane and they brought the Green Mountain Boy down on the sandy beach at Burgeo.

The flyers, who left Barre yesterday, said they experienced a very uncomfortable night on the beach and at daylight they took off for the airport here. They had to let the air from their tires to enable the wheels to grip in the sandy beach. A wing was slightly damaged but the aviators said it was of no importance.

They landed at St. John's that Solberg and Petersen had crashed in Derby Harbor, Placentia Bay, at 9:30 o'clock last night. It was said that the flyers were not injured but the plane was wrecked. Placentia Bay is on the west coast of the Avalon Peninsula, which forms the southeastern tip of Newfoundland. It is about 50 miles across the peninsula from Harbor Grace.

Solberg and Petersen left New York at 4:41 a. m. yesterday and were sighted several times on the way toward Harbour Grace, but when they reached the Newfoundland coast they encountered rain and fog.

Last night they sent out a radio message, saying they could not land because of the fog, and intended to circle around until the weather cleared. They had fuel for about eight hours flying.

Lee and Bochko, on reaching here, immediately began to fuel their plane for the flight across the ocean, but later decided to start tomorrow. Hubert Huntington, the plane's navigator, who is directing the flight from the Barre-Montpelier airport in Vermont, sent them orders to delay their departure until tomorrow morning and in the meanwhile lend all possible assistance to Solberg and Petersen.

Two Circumstances Killed.

WILMAR, Minn., Aug. 24.—Two men were instantly killed, two dangerously hurt, and three others were seriously injured when drivers lost control of two circus trucks on Duluth today. Three killed were Terrance Teob, of St. Paul and Paul Sikorsky of Arcadia, Fla.; Albert Beardsey of Chicago, and R. H. Hargrave of Terrell, Tex., were not expected to live. Amos Melton of Gainesville, Fla., Thomas Mark of Marion, Tex., and Carrie Mather, of Picher, Okla., also were hurt. All were employees of the John Francis Shows. The two trucks were going from Hibbing to New Ulm, Minn.

NEW YORK ASSAILS S. W. STRAUS & CO. SELLING TACTICS

Attorney-General Seeks to Restrain Bond Deals and Have Receiver Appointed for Firm.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—S. W. Straus & Co., described by the Attorney-General's office as the oldest real estate bond house in the country, has been called on to show cause why it should not be restrained from selling securities except under conditions laid down by the Attorney-General.

A court order, returnable today, also directs the company to show cause why it should not be placed in receivership.

One of the conditions would require the company to make complete disclosures to its clients of the true value of the properties against which it sells bonds. The Attorney-General's office, in applying for an injunction, alleged this had not been done in the past.

S. J. T. Straus, chairman of the board, issued a statement declaring the material allegations in the Attorney-General's petition were not true.

The company was charged in the petition with having sold bonds against properties on which taxes and interest had not been paid and so which had been non amortizable or non principal.

Deputy Attorney-General Lazarus Joseph, who filed an affidavit with the petition, charged that salesmen for the company switched customers from interest-paying bonds to bonds that were in default and that they received extra commission for doing so.

Joseph quoted from a sales report alleged to have been made by Harry R. Amott, a sales executive, at a board of directors meeting in December, 1929. Amott was represented as having said the salesmen would be "content to earn less if they had greater respect for much of the merchandise we are asking them to sell."

Amott was represented as having said the salesmen would be "content to earn less if they had greater respect for much of the merchandise we are asking them to sell."

Officials said witnesses told them, after long questioning, that the woman, Mrs. Caroling Weeks, 24 years old, collapsed in her apartment in connection with the death of her daughter-in-law, and police said he had admitted tying a strip of gauze tightly about her neck.

The actress, Mrs. Henrietta Tilghman O'Kelly, killed herself by poison in January, 1931. Her mother, Mrs. Ethel M. Tilghman, said her daughter started the suit before her death and asked that she be substituted as plaintiff.

She is asking for $2500 which she claimed Dr. Lee Forest was in arrears to Mrs. O'Kelly, $2500 for diamond bracelets he allegedly promised to redeem and $25,400 as a continuance of the $350 monthly payments for seven years after her daughter's death.

Those arrested said they were Elmer Martin of Cherryville, Mo., and Arville Robinson of Bremen, Ill. Salem authorities reported both had served terms in the Missouri penitentiary.

About 1 a. m. Jack Johnson of Lenox observed a machine gun on a side road entering Lenox. The machine gun, which occurred, looked suspicious to him and when it did, he followed it into Lenox, where it parked about 200 yards from the bank. When the occupants alighted and approached the bank, he roused. Fount Carney, cashier, who hastily summoned men to help him, knotted the gauze about her neck to make it look like suicide.

Suspicion was caused by the fact that there were two knots in the gauze, whereas investigators were convinced that if the woman had been taking her own life she would have rendered herself unconscious before she could have tied the second knot.

Testimony of her older child, a 4-year-old girl, conflicted with the undertaker's first story.

The dead woman's estranged husband, Milton, is at Peekskill, in summer training with the National Guard.

WEBSTER GROVES WOMAN, 101, RECALLS STAGE COACH DAYS

By the Associated Press.

Mrs. Helen Jane Van Amburgh's Birthday Tomorrow; Gives Her Philosophy of Life.

Mrs. Helen Jane Van Amburgh, who traveled first in stagecoach days and lived to see the airplane, will observe her 101st birthday tomorrow at a family dinner at her home, 451 Lee Avenue, Webster Groves.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Henry Salveter, with whom she lives, she has six grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Reviewing the lights and shadows of a century on her last birthday, she said she "found life good" and people about the same over the years.

"I'm glad I've seen the things I've seen," she said, "but I'm still close to friends and loved ones. But I can't say why I've lived so long. All I know is that I like each day as it comes. I've eaten what I wanted and as much as I've wanted. And I do not fear the future. Just another wonderful, wonderful world."

SHERIFF TO BAR FARMERS' PICKETS FROM IOWA ROADS

Officer at Council Bluffs Asserts Promises Have Been Broken — To Call Out More Deputies.

By the Associated Press.
COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Aug. 14.—Declaring farmers' strike pickets had broken their promises to remain peaceful, Sheriff P. A. Lainson today announced he would immediately enlist as many deputies as were needed to handle the situation and would bar pickets from highways.

Three men were arrested on a highway near here last night during a clash between pickets and police.

The officers went to the scene where four trucks were reported to be held here. Officer McWiggan ordered W. L. Schwart, a trooper, to a picket truck. Schwart resisted the order, and the officer hauled him bodily from the vehicle. The officers said the pickets then attempted to upset the police car but desisted after McWiggan had fired a warning shot into the ground.

Another outbreak followed with a few minutes, however, and one picket was slugged by Officer Roy Lammert, while McWiggan struck another with his flashlight.

He said he would also seek the prosecution of Clifton L. Savery of Logan and other men he said were instigators of the strike, on charges of conspiracy.

Lainson's announcement followed a night of disorder in which picketing farmers, members of the National Farmers' Holiday Association, which two weeks ago inaugurated a non-selling campaign in an attempt to obtain higher farm produce prices, defied Deputy Sheriffs.

The farmers were routed only after tear gas had been used by the Sheriff's forces.

"We are going to stop this picketing if we have to enlist 5000 deputies to do it," Sheriff Lainson declared.

"There are probably not over 100 Pottawattamie County farmers involved in this affair. The others are from other counties."

"They are hoodlums just as much as are Chicago gangsters. Many are from Sioux City, the toughest town in Iowa, and are not farmers."

"We are going to enforce the law and protect citizens and their property from these men."

Pickets still were stationed this morning on highways Nos. 75, 6, 7.

On highways Nos. 75 and 64 the picket-strikers were still stopping trucks, forcing them to unload produce before proceeding into Council Bluffs, important gateway to the large markets in Omaha, Neb., its sister city across the Missouri River.

On road No. 64 pickets threw railroad ties and bridge timbers on the highways.

Savery, an organizer for the Farmers' Union, said he was not able to control the picketing strikers.

Sheriff Lainson said Gov. Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska ordered additional deputy sheriffs commissioned in Northeastern Nebraska counties to prevent any violence by farmers.

Two victories marked the course of the farm strike as the movement spread in some quarters and subsided in others. Interference with rail transportation continued.

Both victories were in Nebraska, where milk producers gained higher prices for their products. At Omaha, officers of the Iowa-Nebraska Co-Op. Milk Association agreed to pay 72¢ per hundredweight for milk, compared with a previous top of 21¢, while Lincoln milk dealers agreed to pay 11¢, an increase of 4¢ cents over the previous figure.

Reports of a spread of the strike came from Danbury, Rockford, Mapleton and other points in Iowa. At Danbury 50 strikers unloaded a car of hogs bound for the Sioux City market, and chased milk producers who gathered at Farmington, Minn., Saturday to pass on the same question.

Savory, an organizer for the Farmers' Union, said he was not able to control the picketing strikers.

Tear bombs came into use at a truck. The owner returned home, taking his livestock with him. A somewhat similar move was made at Concord, Neb., where two cars of livestock were not allowed to proceed to market.

At Rockford, 25 farmers demanded that the Rockford Creamery join the holiday movement, and then moved on to other nearby towns to make similar demands.

Hog receipts at 21 concentration points and seven packing plants in the interior of Iowa and Southern Minnesota rose 12,500 yesterday, an increase of 2000 over the same day a week ago.

Although the strike wave appeared to weaken in some sections the possibility loomed that the strikers might add two vital Wisconsin sectors to their warfare.

Wisconsin dairymen are to meet at Marshfield Sept. 3, to decide whether they will join the strike, and Minnesota milk producers will gather at Farmington, Minn., Saturday to pass on the same question.

THINKS SALT IS ONE OF MANY SEX FACTORS

Researcher Says, However,
Alkalinity Brings Boys in Some Families, Girls in Others.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—A discovery that salt may be one of the factors governing the sex of children, new methods of birth control and new reasons why some pairs of children were reported to the Third International Congress of Eugenics yesterday.

The saltdiscovery was made by its author, Agnes Blum of Germany, to be only one of seemingly numerous sex-controlling factors in human beings. She increased the number of female mice by use of sodium, one of the elements in table salt, and the salt changed body alkalinity balance, and thus change affected sex.

She pointed to experiments by other scientists upon human beings to show that the alkalinity change resulting from use of salt may be different in different races, species and even among individuals. Hence salt or other chemicals might tend to produce male births in one family and females in another.

The new birth controls are secretions of the uterine, or ductless glands. One with the anterior pituitary gland sits at the base of the brain. It produces temporary sterility. Proteins from some other glands have a similar effect. These studies were reported by Michael F. Guyer of the Department of Zoology, University of Wisconsin.

Cause of Childlessness.

These endocrine glands play a considerable role in causing the childlessness of some pairs, according to Dr. Allan W. Rowe and associates of Evans Memorial Hospital, Boston.

"More than 1 per cent of modern marriages are involuntary," said Dr. Rowe, "and another 18 per cent are infertile."

"During the last 10 years much light has been thrown upon the cause. First it is not some single abnormality, but four or five factors. Second, in a great majority of cases, the responsibility is divided between the two partners. Third, states of constitutional depression, both endocrine and non-endocrine, are causative factors."

Even headaches and hayfever are partly hereditary. This was reported in a paper by Dr. M. H. Richards, and Dr. J. M. Balyeat of Oklahoma City. Although the type of headache named migraine is more common among women than men, they stated, heredity studies show that man can inherit it either from his father or his mother.

The susceptibility to hayfever may be transmitted by a hereditary trait to several or all of his or her children. In such cases the parent passes hay fever sensitivity along from some ancestor.

Building Disease Resistance.

The possibility of immunizing a race or a nation to major virulent diseases by marriage, or generation after generation of persons showing high resistance to those ills was discussed by Clarence G. Campbell, president of the Eugenics Research Association of New York.

He illustrated with the Mayans of Central America. Recently it has been discovered that they are so highly immune to the most widespread blood infection known, that they recover from it spontaneously without ill effects.

He quoted Dr. George Draper as saying that infantile paralysis affects more frequently children who are brunettes, have mongolian eyes, deeply pigmented skins, wide toes with widely separated eyes, irregular teeth and certain endocrine deficiencies.

A possible explanation in heredity of the "sudden fall of Greece, Rome and other dominant empires and civilizations" was suggested by Dr. C. C. Hurst of Cambridge England.

This heredity is a "fifth grade" type of intelligence, the cause of which Dr. Hurst says he has identified as probably proceeding from "N genes." Genes are transmitted from parent to child and fit hereditary characteristics.

These "N genes," Dr. Hurst said, dominate the individuals constituting a great majority of an ordinary population. He thinks a sudden influx of such genes through mating contributed to the fall of former empires.

Mountain children of East Tennessee compare favorably with normal children in hereditary capacity, said Lester R. Wheeler of the State Teachers College, Johnson City, Tenn. They rate well in inborn intelligence, musical ability and physique.

A recent "remarkable decrease in mortality in infancy and childhood" was attributed partly to heredity by Dr. Charles Herman of New York City. Unresistant strains have died out.

Y.M.C.A. GENERAL SECRETARY John Ellis Manley of Pittsburgh Selected for Post.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Appointment of John Ellis Manley of Pittsburgh, Pa., as General Secretary of the National Council of the Young Men's Christian Association was announced yesterday at the association headquarters. He will come here from Pittsburgh about Jan. 1, it was said, from his present post as General Secretary of the Pittsburgh Y. M. C. A.

Meanwhile the National Council will be directed by a committee appointed while Fred W. Root resigned last January, after serving since the retirement in 1928 of Dr. John R. Mott.

MAN, 69, HIT BY AUTO

AUG. 16, DIES OF INJURIES

A. J. Hutchinson Hurt Watching
Father Cox's Followers Parade;
Inquest to Be Held.

Albert J. Hutchinson, 69 years old, an advertising agent, died yesterday at St. Luke's Hospital, where he was taken Aug. 16 for treatment for an injury to his head suffered when he was struck by an automobile at Hodiamont avenue and Olive street road.

Hutchinson had left his home,
8015 Chisholm Avenue, to watch the annual parade of followers of Father Cox, and was crossing Olive Street road, when struck by a machine driven by Joseph Block, 4225
Chisholm Avenue, turning right into Olive Street road from Hodiamont avenue.

An inquest will be held tomorrow to determine the cause of death.

Funeral services will be held at Mullen undertaking establishment, 8145 Delmar boulevard, at 10 a. m.
Friday. Surviving are his widow,
a son, Paul Hutchinson, a daughter, Mrs. J. H. Woodward Jr. and a brother.

U. S. BANKING REFORM PROPOSALS DISCUSSED

Five Suggestions Made by London Economist to Institute of Politics.

By the Associated Press.
WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 24.—Five proposals for banking reform in the United States occupied the Institute of Politics group on credit problems today at its final session.

Guarantees of bank deposits, uniform banking code, cautious extension of branch banking, Federal inspection for all banks and new dividend policy to remove bank shares from the realm of speculation, were the reforms suggested by Dr. T. E. Gregory of the London School of Economics, chairman of the group.

He criticised investment trusts as having become "largely gambling pools during the course of the boom."

To guarantee bank deposits, Gregory said, two methods could be used: Either a Government guarantee or mutual guarantees of banks with mutual inspection. In this connection, Gregory declared it was important to consider whether the funds accumulated by the guarantees system would be ample to meet a situation such as arose in the spring of this year.

Difficulty of standardizing banking codes lay in the doctrine of state rights held in the United States, he said.

Canadian and United States economists agreed in a special session on the "Ottawa Conference" that the Hawley-Smoot tariff was responsible for the recent meeting of British Dominions with England and that despite threats the Ottawa agreements would not hurt the foreign trade of the United States.

Prof. Edwin F. Gay of Harvard concluded a conference series on national planning today with a "definite and strong suggestion that a national economic commission be appointed to study and recommend necessary measures required for the country."

The Federal Reserve Board had performed great service but it is now evident banking and credit institutions of the country again require overhauling and strengthening," he said.

Pending negotiations for a reciprocal tariff agreement between the United States and France were viewed yesterday by Prof. John H. Williams of Harvard as a preliminary to world-wide tariff reductions.

He said that if France reached an agreement with this country she probably would turn then to Great Britain and this action would pave the way for universal readjustments.

"More and more," he said, "we are beginning to realize that there is more to be gained by the acquisition of foreign markets than to be lost in the domestic market through the lowering of tariffs."

Williams saluted the Smoot-Hawley act "our supreme act of folly."

Several speakers criticised the "five-year plan for American capitalism," which H. S. Dennison of Framingham, Mass., presented at an earlier session. Dennison proposed that a council of seven men be selected by the President to draft a systematic plan for economic recovery.

"I can imagine no greater insult to the American economic thought of this and other countries," replied Dr. Gregory, than the assertion that after 150 years of pretty continuous thinking on the trade cycle, banking and currency, it will be possible to solve all these problems in a five-year plan."

Prof. Herbert von Beckgath, German economist, declared Dennison's plan impractical because, he said, such a board would have to plan socially as well as economically.

FAMILY EXPECTS BROKER, MISSING HERE, TO RETURN

Leo Bailey Came to St. Louis to See Howard Sidenor About Stock Bond Deal.

DECATUR, Ill., Aug. 24.—Thomas H. Armstrong, attorney today, said he had been unable to determine the cause of the disappearance of Leo Bailey, Decatur investment broker, who was last seen Friday in St. Louis.

Armstrong said Bailey went to St. Louis on business and was to have conferred there with Howard Sidenor, former Circuit Attorney of St. Louis.

Members of Bailey's family said they thought he was "just away on business and would return."

Police in their report of the disappearance of Bailey said yesterday he had come to St. Louis to try to recover $4,000 given to Sidenor last March as part payment for $15,000 of bonds which later proved to have been stolen from the Farmers' and Merchants' State Bank of Hannibal, Mo. Sidenor told police Bailey had not been to his office and had not telephoned him. Bailey was last seen at a brokerage office in the Central National Bank Building. His automobile, left in a garage here, has been turned over to his attorney, who said Bailey took out $15,000 additional life insurance last March.

Irish Distiller Coming to U. S.

BELFAST, Ireland, Aug. 24.—Austin T. Boyd, director of old Bushmills Distillery Co., left today for New York to make plans for selling whiskey in America if prohibition is repealed. "We are confident that the United States is going wet after the presidential election," he said. "Our firm enjoyed a large business in the States before prohibition and we hope to resume that trade. Already we have received many trade inquiries from America."

KILLS MAN FOR SISTER'S SAKE

Boy Dies Three Times; Body Falls Through Window.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 24.—An 11-year-old boy today shot and killed a man who, his lawyer said, was forcing the youth's sister to support him through immoral life.

The boy, Jack Housley, until recently a resident of Chattanooga, Tenn., fired three shots at Charles P. Nelson, 25, who staggered and fell through an open window, dead, to the sidewalk two stories below. The shooting occurred in the apartment of Mrs. May Robinson, 21, sister of the Housley youth.

STEPMOTHER, MAN ARE INDICTED FOR HANGING BOY, 10

Woman and Boarder in Home Accused of Wilful Murder of Child at Soldier, Ky.

By the Associated Press.
GRAYSON, Ky., Aug. 24.—Mrs. Bitha Rickey, 27 years old, and Jim Andy Day, 16, a boarder at the Rickey home, were indicted yesterday for wilful murder. The indictment was returned by a special grand jury impaneled to investigate the hanging of Roy Rickey, 10, from a tree near the Rickey home at Soldier, Ky., Saturday.

Mrs. Rickey is the boy's stepmother. Her father, Clyde Rickey, 52, also is in jail. He is a laborer in a brickyard at Soldier. Day is unemployed.

Mrs. Rickey is Rickey's fourth wife. She has been married three times. The boy's mother, Rickey's second wife, is dead.

Evidence at a Coroner's inquest was that the boy had been missing several days before the body was found. The Coroner's verdict was death by strangulation.

Mrs. Rickey, Day and Rickey, who have been held in jail pending investigation since the body was found, have denied any connection with the boy's death.

Commonwealth's Attorney George S. Yates said trials in the case probably would be called in Carter County Circuit Court today.

SIX DRIVERS FOR YEAST FIRM HELD UP AND ROBBED OF $158

Two Armed Men Seize Collections at Office 4141 Forest Park BL; $500 in Tools Stolen.

Six drivers for the Standard Brands Inc., a yeast company of 4141 Forest Park boulevard, were held up in the office yesterday afternoon as they were preparing to turn in collections. Two armed robbers compelled them to place their money, $158 in all, on a table and ordered one driver to put it in a sack. Taking the sack, the robbers escaped in an automobile with an accomplice.

Harry Kronsberg, 5803 Thekla avenue, was putting his automobile in a garage in the rear of 5779 Thekla early today when two youths held him up and took $20 from his pockets.

Toys valued at about $500 and a small amount of cash were stolen from the W. B. Knight Machinery Co., 3920 West Pine boulevard, last night by burglars who broke open three safes.

BRENTWOOD PATROLMAN WHO SHOT SUSPECT IS REINSTATED

William Skow Had Been Suspected After Wounding Negro in Chase.

Patrolman William Skow of the Brentwood police force, who was suspended after shooting Levi Graham, 18-year-old Negro, during a chase on the night of Aug. 13, was reinstated last night by the Police Board, which found that he had acted in pursuance of his duty.

Graham, wounded in the back when he is reported to have disregarded an order to halt, is recovering at St. Louis County Hospital.

Skow was dismissed from the Brentwood force in 1927 after wounding Austin W. Kaercher, a Washington University student, during a chase after a speeding automobile, which led into St. Louis. He was re-employed last year.

DETROIT FALCONS WILL NOT QUIT NATIONAL HOCKEY ORGANIZATION

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Officials of the Detroit club of the National Hockey League today had denied they would leave the circuit and affiliate with the American League, but officials of the latter organization were here to discuss plans for bringing the Falcons into their fold.

A statement bearing the name of Tom Shaughnessy, vice-president of the American League, last night said the Detroit club, the Falcons, would withdraw from the National League because of "unreasonable demands by President Calder, in regard to players," and join the American League. Knowledge of any such plan was denied by Detroit officials.

White Sox Recall Morgan.
The Chicago White Sox have recalled Willis Norman from St. Paul of the American Association and cancelled the option on Irvine Jeffries.

Panting across home plate
after a long drive, Chalfonte heard someone shout:
"Hey, you didn't touch first!"
So Charley started around the bases again. He fell into second and ahead of the ball and was called safe.

The next batter ended the inning.

MRS. HILL WINS SECOND ROUND MATCH IN WOMEN'S WESTERN GOLF RACING

TITLE HOLDER CAPTURES CLOSE MATCH FROM MRS. PARDUE

Vines Favorite?

EASTERN dispatches report that Ellsworth Vines will be favored over Henri Cochet to win the national tennis championship, but the long range view out here is that the American's victory is by no means assured.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 24.—Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City, defending the women's Western golf championship, defeated Mrs. Austin of Minneapolis, 1 up in their second round match today.

Clicking off a 17, three under par, Mrs. Hill reached the turn 4 up, but Mrs. Pardue rallied on the last nine.

Mary E. Ford of Kansas City coasted to a 3 to 2 victory over René Nelson of Chicago, while Mrs. J. Walter Beyer of Tulsa, trans-Mississippi champion, defeated Jane Walker, Chicago district champion, 6 and 2. Mrs. Beyer qualified next low to Mrs. Hill and was in the lower bracket.

Jean Armstrong of Chicago breezed through to win, 6 and 2, over Mrs. Robert C. Greenleaf of Kansas City, and meets Mrs. Hill tomorrow.

Miss Ray Greene of Glendale, Calif., defeated Mary K. Brown of Cleveland, 2 and 2, and Mrs. Marvin Jones of Chicago defeated Miss Abbott of Los Angeles, 1 up.

Pairings for tomorrow:

Mrs. Hill vs. Miss Armstrong.
Miss Ford vs. Mrs. Wallace.
Mrs. Beyer vs. Miss Robinson.
Mrs. Greene vs. Mrs. Jones.

Mrs. Tom Wallace of Tulsa defeated Dorothy Gustafson of South Bend, Ind., 2 and 1. Lucille Reuben of Des Moines won from Marion of Miley of Lexington, Ky., 4 and 2.

SWIM STARS HONORED.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 24.—Resolutions praising Lenore Knight and Anna Mae Gorman for honors they had brought to the Olympic through competing in the Olympic swimming contests were adopted by the Homestead Council last night. The girls were tendered a civic reception while borough streets were massed with color. Business houses closed during the ceremonies.

FIVE MEN ADMIT TERROR CAMPAIGN AGAINST NEGROES

Prisoners at Jackson, Miss., Confess Participation in Shootings of Railway Firemen.

By the Associated Press.
JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 24.—Five men under arrest here have confessed participation in a series of attacks on Negro railway firemen in a campaign of terror intended to frighten Negroes away from their jobs. Those held are M. F. Varnado of McComb; Reedy Lee, Em-mott Smith, Charles J. Miller and J. Matt Lewis.

Officers said the prisoners admitted connection with a series of shootings but not the killing of six Negro firemen in Mississippi and Louisiana in the past few months. Those killed were fired on at night in their engine cars. Others were wounded under similar circumstances.

Police say the motive of the attacks was to make vacancies for white men.

Four of the five men held are former employees of the Illinois Central Railroad. The prisoners asserted a "pool" had been formed by unidentified persons to pay gunmen for the attacks at a rate ranging from $25 to $125, "depending on the result."

MAJOR RUTH URGES FEDERAL AID IN FIGHT ON CRIME

University City Official Addresses Missouri Law Officers' Group

HANNIBAL, Mo., Aug. 24.—Major E. D. Ruth Jr. of University City, speaking before the annual convention of the Missouri Association of Chiefs of Police and the Association of Sheriffs here today, urged Federal co-operation with state and local law-enforcement agencies as a means for more effective war against crime.

Discussing what the problem now faced by police departments in small municipalities, he said: "There is, I believe, at least one major factor in our conditions. National and state organizations of intelligent and trained operatives if they could be established, would greatly supplement and aid the work of local police. The confinement of Federal enforcement bodies to investigation of Federal crimes should be removed and both the state and Federal governments should go to work on crime."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The Postoffice Department thinks that during the last two years it has kept more than a billion dollars of credit which was set up a year ago with J. P. Morgan & Co. to help that country's banking system over the hazards which resulted later in England being forced off the gold standard.

Great Britain originally obtained $125,000,000 of credits from the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and $100,000,000 from a group of American banks headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. The Reserve Bank credit was retired earlier this year and half of the $100,000,000 Morgan credit also was expunged. The Saturday cancellation will close the transaction.

Meanwhile, the British Treasury has erased a credit of $125,000,000 which it obtained a year ago from the Bank of France and is understood to have retired more than $55,000,000 of a $100,000,000 loan which it obtained through a French banking syndicate.

Cabinet Member Says Program Has Cared for the Needy, Averted Panic and Catastrophe.

By the Associated Press.

ROCKY POINT, R. I., Aug. 24.—Replies to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's Columbus speech, Secretary of War Hurley today charged the Democratic candidate with attempting to "arouse antagonism to capitalize discontent, to make politics out of human misery and to profit by distortion of fact."

Addressing the Rhode Island Republican Club, Hurley said neither the Democrats nor their candidate had offered a program to improve economic conditions, and he asserted the Hoover non-partisan reconstruction program is still the only complete logical program offered by anyone in or out of public life to break this depression."

Excerpts from Hurley's speech were given out by the Republican National Committee which described it as a reply to Gov. Roosevelt.

In order to reach a bigger audience, Hurley will repeat his address tonight over a National broadcasting Co. chain.

Al Smith Tells What He Intends To Do as Editor of The Outlook"We Are Going to Talk About Everything and Everybody and Say Why We Like Them or Don't Like Them."

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, named editor-in-chief of The New Outlook yesterday, was busy at his new post today. The Outlook and Independent suspended publication last spring and was sold to Frank E. Tichenor. The revived journal will appear again in October as a monthly.

Smith said he would give his readers "a new outlook on current affairs."

On the wall in Smith's new office is a portrait of Henry Ward Beecher, who founded The Outlook, originally called The Christian Union, and another of Theodore Roosevelt, who was a contributor and served on the editorial board, with old letters from readers of his recent writings "got me thinking I was doing something without much labor."

"What is that new outlook," he was asked. "I'm going to write that," he said.

When the question of the literary character of the publication was raised, Smith chewed on his cigar and said: "Remember, I don't read books. I've stated that 400 times. I don't want to reverse my position now just because I'm an editor. I read about seven papers a day and some magazines, but books—no, never any books. I'm not a book reader."

He said he would do most of his magazine work at night, would dictate all his own articles, would pass on all contributions, and would retain the other connections he holds in the business and financial world.

"We're going to talk about everything and everybody and tell why we like them or don't like them," Smith said.

"Will you talk about the Hoover-Roosevelt campaign?" he was asked. "We're going to comment on subjects pressing people for solution. The magazine won't take partisan sides. This has nothing to do with Hoover or Roosevelt or Norman Thomas."

"Does that mean this job will be a success?" he asked.

"It's going to be a success," he said.

Oliver declared that methods pursued by the Government, if used in private business, would be considered criminal. He was especially vigorous concerning what he considered discriminatory practices by the Postoffice Department in fixing rates between zones on parcel post while the express companies were regulated by the Government in regard to rates and service.

The parcel post department of the postal service is operated on a basis which would not be tolerated in private business and industry and its tactics, if indulged in by private business would be criminal under existing Federal laws," he declared. "At least these practices would be suicidal and the economical operation simply is without foundation."

Attacks Barge Lines.

Hearing on the barge service operation yesterday was concluded with testimony by Rome C. Stephenson, South Bend banker and former president of the American Bankers' Association, speaking in behalf of railroads; by C. C. Webber of St. Louis, president of the Upper Mississippi Barge Line Co., and George C. Miller, manufacturer of Mississawka, Ind., who said he operated barges on the Ohio River 20 years ago.

Miller told the committee he would produce evidence of secret contracts with shippers which he said had been made by the General Barge Service.

Webber said: "The people of the Upper Mississippi Valley look forward confidently to the eventual private operation of the services which is being performed by the Government, but they are unalterably opposed to the termination of these operations and the dismemberment of the service, while the channels are incomplete, and it is therefore impossible to induce private enterprises to take up the service now."

Increase in U. S. Expenses.

James L. Donnelly, executive vice-president of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, said Federal expenditures had increased $3,750,000 in the last 19 years and he attributed this largely to the Government business and commercial ventures.

A missionary visiting Shaoxing writes: "The city is in pitiful condition. Six weeks of drought dried up many canals and the water remaining in the others is filthy, stagnant and unfit for use but the people still wash their rice in it and boys seek relief from the heat by bathing frequently in this unwholesome fluid."

It is no wonder that cholera is taking a heavy toll. It is impossible to investigate this disease but what is happening within these densely crowded streets and lanes would make a sorry tale.

"Emergency hospitals have been opened but a high percentage of the cases there end fatally because these ignorant people resort to this measure only as a last resource and are beyond hope when rushed to a doctor whose skill could have saved them had they come earlier."

"Typhoid and dysentery also are rampant maladies, savagely and quickly claiming their victims."

Chinese health authorities are striving to combat these conditions but the means at their disposal are woefully inadequate.

BEND, IND., Aug. 24.—E. L. Oliver of Cincinnati, director of research for the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers and Express and Station Employees, declared before the Shannon congressional committee today that practices of the United States Postoffice Department, if continued, would stopless, make it necessary for the largest two express companies to go out of business.

Oliver testified before members of the committee which is inquiring into effects of Governmental ownership and operation of private business.

Following today's testimony the committee recessed until Sept. 12, when the investigation will be resumed in New York City.

The committee also will meet in Washington Sept. 14.

Charges Discrimination.

Oliver declared that methods purposed by the Government, if used in private business, would be considered criminal. He was especially vigorous concerning what he considered discriminatory practices by the Postoffice Department in fixing rates between zones on parcel post while the express companies were regulated by the Government in regard to rates and service.

The parcel post department of the postal service is operated on a basis which would not be tolerated in private business and industry and its tactics, if indulged in by private business would be criminal under existing Federal laws," he declared. "At least these practices would be suicidal and the economical operation simply is without foundation."

Attacks Barge Lines.

Hearing on the barge service operation yesterday was concluded with testimony by Rome

C. Stephenson, South Bend

banker and former president of the American Bankers' Association, speaking in behalf of railroads; by C. C. Webber of St.

Louis, president of the Upper Mississippi Barge Line Co., and George

C. Miller, manufacturer of Mis-sissawka, Ind., who said he operated barges on the Ohio River 20 years ago.

Miller told the committee he would produce evidence of secret contracts with shippers which he said had been made by the General Barge Service.

Webber said: "The people of the Upper Mississippi Valley look forward confidently to the eventual private operation of the services which is being performed by the Government, but they are unalterably opposed to the termination of these operations and the dismemberment of the service, while the channels are incomplete, and it is therefore impossible to induce private enterprises to take up the service now."

Increase in U. S. Expenses.

James L. Donnelly, executive vice-president of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, said Federal expenditures had increased $3,750,000 in the last 19 years and he attributed this largely to the Government business and commercial ventures.

A missionary visiting Shaoxing writes: "The city is in pitiful condition. Six weeks of drought dried up many canals and the water remaining in the others is filthy, stagnant and unfit for use but the people still wash their rice in it and boys seek relief from the heat

by bathing frequently in this unwholesome fluid."

It is no wonder that cholera is taking a heavy toll. It is impo-sible to investigate this disease but what is happening within these densely crowded streets and lanes would make a sorry tale.

"Emergency hospitals have been opened but a high percentage of the cases there end fatally because these ignorant people resort to this measure only as a last resource and are beyond hope when rushed to a doctor whose skill could have saved them had they come earlier."

"Typhoid and dysentery also are rampant maladies, savagely and quickly claiming their victims."

Chinese health authorities are striving to combat these conditions

but the means at their disposal are woefully inadequate.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in the cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight the demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong; whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

America Betrays Itself.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
TOWARD the end of August at present there seems to be a common feeling that has somehow betrayed the country. This feeling is not merely that of the prohibitionists against having been used four years ago and now being thrown the pitiful politician from Kansas as an artificial fly to catch them again. Nor is it wholly against the chicken-in-the-pot promises, with the pot now empty. It is something deeper.

For every country has a dominant need, or demand, or ideal, be it of the body or of the soul. That of ancient Greece may have been glory, and of Rome the lesser ideal of grandeur. England's ideal has probably been liberty, honesty, independence; France's, intelligence, tolerance and glory; Germany's, efficiency and power; Italy's, beauty; Russia's, humanity and the soul. Jefferson's ideal, and that of the Declaration, was the equality of men in their rights to their lives, their liberties and their several pursuits of happiness; of Hamilton and of the Constitution the ideal was order and union. The ideal of Calhoun and Davis was the independence of men in their state or communal lives, and that of Lincoln was the union of states to preserve the equality of man in democratic republicanism.

Then in 1866 came the reaction. This is the period which Mark Twain called the gilded age, and Farrington the great barbecue. Then everyone was invited to come up to the public trough and feed himself at his neighbor's expense. But somehow the scheme did not always work for the best; the little fellow sometimes found himself crowded out. Land grants and protective tariffs left him poorer than before, while a few became magnificently fat. Cleveland's "public office is a public trust," Bryan's unpassioned protest, Roosevelt's "square deal," and Wilson's plea to forward-looking men for universal brotherhood and union were interludes; but Mark Hanna's full dinner pail, barbecue slogan became again the ideal under Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

The barbecue goes on, but the dinner pail is again empty. When the returned soldier or the discharged workman attempts to shove himself rudely to the table for a sandwich and a Stein where huge financial institutions are being served whole carcasses of public funds, he is roughly snatched back by the strong arm of the law with the charge of sedition.

Mr. Hoover has in effect said: Give us our millions, and we will give you our meals. But the meals have failed. America has sold its heritage for a mess of pottage; now that the pottage fails, even begins to doubt both Jacob and the whole transaction. Hoover's betrayal is at the bottom of America's betrayal of itself.

The Utilities Please:

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I've just read your editorial, "Journalism and the Public Utilities." I, with many of my friends, agree with you and are opposed to your critic. Short of the tariff abomination, no issue is more vital.

Many of your readers hope you keep up the good fight you are making. No doubt the demand for government or municipal ownership will grow, and largely due to the support of an honest journalism.

Objects to New Street Car Fare.

A suggestion to the St. Louis Public Service Co. that they take into consideration in their decision on street car fares the fact that many of the working people ride the street cars more than twice daily, some going back and forth for lunch, a total of four rides per day?

At the old rate, with the use of the $1 pass and the 5-cent rides the carfare percentage for a working person of that type seemed logical. However, at the 25 cents per four token rate, it seems hardly fair during these hard times to pay out so much for conveyance in order to earn the moderately low salaries we working people do.

I am sure that this is the opinion of many others, but that they have been too nonchalant to protest, or ignore their objection. Yet, I can safely say, such comments can be heard throughout the city, especially from those who are the real street car riders, riding more than twice daily.

Why not take under consideration the idea of selling both the $1 per week pass, including the 5-cent extra ride, for those who ride more than once or twice daily, and the 25 cents per four token rate for those who have no further use of the street cars? I am sure this is almost a general opinion not yet voiced by many.

Finland's Experience.
RASON has considered: "The Minister of Justice of Finland, 'The Finnish home has been saved' when prohibition was repealed. Until the crime of the ages is repealed here the home will not be safe. Quibbling about the repeal of the eighteenth amendment on account of the saloon is only a smoke screen of the drys to cover up their dryness."

Ottawa, a New Example of Selfish Nationalism

At the end of a month of bitter controversy, nine British nations in conference at Ottawa have signed 12 separate bilateral trade agreements which have as their purpose the promotion of commerce within the empire. These agreements, insofar as they have been made public, reveal neither the attainment of the United Kingdom's objectives of wider markets and freer trade nor of the dominions' objective of exclusive entrance to the British market for foodstuffs and raw materials. They do, however, give expression to a compromise between dominion high tariff policy and English low tariff policy through the extension of preferential treatment which may facilitate intra-imperial trade and make it more difficult for non-British producers to obtain access to imperial markets.

In return for these concessions the mother country has obtained valuable privileges. The dominions will continue and increase the preference which they accord her. Canada will give her additional preference on 220 items which have not yet been publicly named but which undoubtedly include all the major exports in which British industry has an interest. This will be accomplished in three ways:

1. By adding to the free list British goods which are now dutiable.
2. By lowering the rates now imposed on British imports while maintaining rates against other nations; and
3. By raising against the rest of the world new duties which shall not apply to the United Kingdom, Canada, in addition to this, has vaguely agreed to "consider" the abolition of the surcharges which she now imposes on British imports by virtue of the anti-dumping provisions of her tariff law. Similar reciprocal preferential agreements were concluded between the dominions themselves.

The United States will lose less as a result of the achievements which were projected upon its inauguration. No action was taken on monetary issues. Certain of the dominions desired the creation of an empire currency. Other interests clamored for the monetization of silver. Another proposal would have established a clearing house for the settlement of trade balances within the empire. Still another would have set up an imperial bank in London to deal with the central bank of each of the nations in the Commonwealth. All these matters were left for the future. The proposal to create a permanent economic secretariat to function as a link between recurring imperial conferences was also defeated. The effort to restrict the export bounty systems of Australia and South Africa, which seriously interfere with imperial preference, likewise ended in failure as did the attempt to achieve a uniform method of customs administration which would control the Irish and Canadian anti-dumping duties which now impede British exports. Nor do the agreements adopted go far toward establishing that empire unity which is the dream of Lord Beaverbrook and his followers. They are far from making of the empire a self-contained economy.

Hollywood, also, has cause to rejoice over the refusal of the dominions to accede to the British demand for restrictions on the importation of American films. Even so, the degree of success which the conference attained presents serious losses for American industry. American manufacturers will probably have to face stiffer British competition in Canada. American producers of copper, wheat, meat, fruit and other goods will encounter new difficulty in obtaining access to British markets. The conference also took action looking toward increased competition with subsidized American shipping in the Pacific. Of none of this dare the United States complain. Great Britain, in going the way of economic nationalism, is merely following our example.

The probable results of the agreements, both for America and for the nations of the British Commonwealth, cannot be accurately measured until more of the details are made public. British preference to dominion wheat and other foods may mean little, since the dominions produce more for export than the United Kingdom can possibly absorb. Canadian preference to British manufacturers, on the other hand, may shortly be offset by further migration of American plants across the border. England, moreover, runs a serious risk in imposing tariffs on foodstuffs on her people. Restrictions on the importation of wheat, if effective, may curtail her trade with the Argentine, which is more important to her than that of any of the dominions. Tariffs on dairy products may similarly restrict important markets in the Scandinavian countries. Three-quarters of her trade crosses the boundaries of the empire. Her whole system of shipping, investments and finance is built upon foreign markets. She may find that she has sacrificed the basis of her industry in seeking a problematical increase in imperial trade.

Canada lost three fights. The British lumber tariff which she demanded was not granted. She had asked for a British embargo on Russian products, particularly on lumber, wheat, asbestos and fish. The United Kingdom, with an eye to Russian trade and investments, refused. It gave, instead, a vague promise to prevent unfair competition which did not mention Russia or specify the means by which Russian dumping is to be forestalled, a compromise which by no means satisfies the Canadian demands.

Canada had also proposed that the percentage of empire content required to make Canadian products eligible for preferential treatment by the other nations in the Commonwealth be increased from 25 per cent to 75 per cent. The purpose of this proposal was to force American branch plants in Canada to employ a larger quantity of Canadian labor and materials. The United Kingdom and the other dominions refused the request. American branch plants, too, threatened to leave the country, and the Canadian communities affected vigorously protested the action. So the provisions as to empire content remain as they were.

Aside from these matters, Canada, with the other dominions, obtained substantial concessions. The United Kingdom has extended for the five-year term of the agreements the free entry of dominion products which would otherwise have become dutiable under her 10 per cent tariff on Nov. 15. She has agreed to remove present restrictions on the importation of live cattle from Canada. She has agreed to impose tariffs on foreign wheat, fruit and dairy products, while permitting free entry to dominion wheat, eggs, butter, cheese, poultry, apples, pears and citrus fruits. She will restrict the importation of foreign public hunting grounds.

5. Better game and fish laws and a more vigorous and impartial enforcement of these laws.

6. Closer co-operation between the sportsmen of Missouri and our farmer friends.

7. Promote education in game and fish conservation and propagation, and stimulate the establishment of fish rearing ponds.

Those portions of the Ottawa agreements which commit the British nations to raise still further barriers to trade can scarcely fail to have disastrous effects upon the world's commerce. They are but an added manifestation of the policy of selfish nationalism from which the world is suffering today.

The State Department Splits Another Hair

Gov. Roosevelt, at Columbus, promised that if he is elected it will not longer be possible for international bankers or others to sell to the investing public of America foreign securities on the implied understanding that these securities have been passed on or approved by the State Department or any other agency of the Federal Government. In a hot reply, the State Department denies that it has ever approved a single foreign loan.

That is technically true. It is also true that, for 10 years, the State Department has pursued the policy of examining projected loans to foreign countries, and has disapproved many loans, such as those for armaments, for monopolistic purposes and to countries which had not yet made debt settlements with the United States. This disapproval has usually been effective. It prevented loans to Portugal for armament purposes, to France and Italy before ratification of their debt settlements, to the potato monopoly of Germany, the coffee syndicate of Brazil and the Chilean nitrate combine.

If it is not fair to the State Department to say

"A Mad World, My Masters."

It looks as if the rich are going Democratic. Only the other day Vincent Astor came out squarely for Gov. Roosevelt and dismissed as so much trash the rumor that the Democratic candidate was "radical" and an enemy of the persons "still fortunate enough to possess a few invested dollars." What Mr. Astor's party affiliation has previously been we can't say. He has not been "perniciously active" in politics, but general supposition, we suppose, labeled him Republican. The English branch of the family, as everyone knows (we are speaking of Lady Nancy), is Conservative, which is as Republican as Elihu Root, or Philadelphia, or Cape Cod.

And now another scion of traditional wealth is heard from. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney will make meets by methods which as yet remain secret, and will welcome dominion beef, lamb, mutton, ham and bacon. She will favor the copper producers of Canada, Australia and South Africa through a preferential tariff on copper. She has similarly extended her preferential agreements with India.

In return for these concessions the mother country has obtained valuable privileges. The dominions will continue and increase the preference which they accord her. Canada will give her additional preference on 220 items which have not yet been publicly named but which undoubtedly include all the major exports in which British industry has an interest. The Hoover-Curtis Prohibition Straddle

POLES APART.

From the Chicago Daily Tribune.

VICE-PRESIDENT CURTIS in making his acceptance speech said to his Kansas neighbors: "I am opposed to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment." President Hoover making his acceptance speech had said: "I cannot consent to a continuance of this regime." The two candidates are poles apart on the same ticket, but they are poles apart on one of the principal questions of the campaign. To confuse the confusion further there is nothing on the subject in the party platform to indicate that one is regular and the other a rebel.

The opportunity is here for the Democrats to point to a framewall, but it seems probable that Mr. Hoover spoke his mind and Mr. Curtis defected with the respectable Kansas idea. Ordinarily a party would voice its position from its candidate for Vice-President, but a party which had a respectable purpose would not have had a candidate for Vice-President taking issue with the candidate for President. If he did so, it would declare a vacancy in the second place on the ticket, but the Republican management is in no position to require loyalty of a candidate in a question in which it confesses no convictions for itself.

MASTERPIECE OF STRADDLING.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

INSTEAD of the Curtis candor embarrassing Mr. Hoover, there is reason to believe that it meets with Mr. Hoover's satisfaction; indeed, it may be a part of Mr. Hoover's campaign strategy. Mr. Curtis was put on the Republican ticket because Mr. Hoover wanted him there.

Can it not be seen that such a dry as the Kansas statesman yoked with such a wet as the theatrical Square Theater, where he produced young playwrights and actors, and gained the backing of many Back Bay family subscribers.

He offered annually a $1000 prize to the author of the best play produced at Prof. George Pierce Baker's Harvard University drama workshop. Among the plays which won the prize was "Believe Me, Kantippe," in which Mary Young, Craig's wife, later starred on Broadway with John Barrymore, a very young actor.

The actor is survived by Miss Young and his son, John Craig Young, and his son, Harmon Bushnell Craig, who was killed in action with an ambulance unit during the World War.

AN OUTRAGEOUS HAPPENING.

From the Portland (Me.) Evening News.

"NO ONE," says the New York Herald Tribune, "for a moment would challenge the right of Vice-President Curtis to say that he personally is opposed to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment." We completely disagree. We certainly feel that we have the right to challenge him. We feel that if there is any red-blooded fellow left in the Republican party, it also must challenge him.

The official leader of the party, the President of the United States, has established the Republican position by coming out for the end of prohibition. That the Vice-President should nullify the President's declaration is one of the most outrageous happenings that we know of. It reduces the whole American system of party responsibility to absurdity.

A DEPRESSING SPECTACLE.

From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

TO call this good team work is impossible. The political management of the show is exposed to criticism, inasmuch as closely harmonized as the presidential and vice-presidential candidates on the same ticket, racing in contrary directions on a question commanding the liveliest popular interest, must be depressing to their supporters and well-wishers. The more one reflects on the situation, the more the Garrison method of notification by special delivery mail commends itself. Birth Control and Eugenics Also Attacked in Address Before Catholic Women Here.

Mrs. birth control and eugenics were attacked last night by Bishop Samuel A. Stritch of Milwaukee, speaking at a mass meeting of the Catholic Women's division national convention at St. Anthony's Hall.

Emphasizing the need of maintaining the sanctity of the home, he said:

"Divorce broke the stability of the home. It is the excuse of those too weak to assume the marriage contract. It reduces marriage from a society to a mere association."

Birth control, springing from individualism and sensuality, went further and shattered the sanctity of the home.

Moreover yet, the eugenists are hastening the last trace of the once and holy marriage with an attempt to reduce men to animals. We are perilously near decadence."

During the afternoon session the Rev. J. J. Osthimer, Coplay, Pa., urged support of the maternity health movement and referred to the lecture platform as "disgraced" by such speakers as Clarence Darrow, Will Durant, Judge Ben Lindsey and Margaret Sanger.

JOHN CRAIG, THEATRICAL PRODUCER AND ACTOR, DIES

4 Years Old; Victim of Heart Attack at His Long Island Home.

The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—John Craig, for 45 years an actor and theatrical producer, died Monday at his home on Long Island. He was 4 years old.

He was seized with a heart attack as he was starting to New York for a meeting with old friends at the Player's Club, of which he was a charter-member, and succumbed a few minutes later.

Born of a family of mountaineers in Columbia County, N. Y., he came to New York at 18, found several stage jobs and rose steadily. He succeeded John Drew as leading man of the Augustin Daly Co. and many years was leading man with Minnie Maddern Fiske.

Then he went to Boston and began producing original plays at the Eagle Square Theater, where he tried to develop young playwrights and actors, and gained the backings of many Back Bay family subscribers.

He offered annually a $1,000 prize to the author of the best play produced in Prof. George Pierce Baker's Harvard University drama workshop. Among the plays which won the prize was "Believe Me, Kantipe," in which Mary Young, Craig's wife, later starred on Broadway with John Barrymore, in a very young actress.

The funeral of Mrs. Antonia Grodski, Polish resident of St. Louis 42 years, will be held at 8 a. m. Saturday at the Central undertaking establishment, 1442 Cass Avenue, to St. Stanislaus Catholic Church. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Mrs. Grodski, 86 years old, died last night of infirmities at her home, 1442 North Twentieth street.

She was the widow of Valentine Grodski and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Eugene Breszny and by three sons. Former Provisional Judge Frank B. Grodski, John F. Grodski and Dr. Walter J. Grodski.

MR. JAMES L. FORD JR. of the Park Plaza, and his daughter, Miss Elsie, who are spending the late summer at Hyannisport, Mass., will return to St. Louis shortly after Labor day. Mr. and Mrs. Ford and their daughter spent the past month at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irene Dupont Ventner, Atlantic City.

Sharing the house with Mr. and Mrs. Ford were Mr. Ford's sister, Mrs. William Avery Draper of Wilmington, Del., and Mrs. Draper's two sons, Avery and Ford. Mr. Ford returned to St. Louis several weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Kotany, 4344 Westminster place, will leave Sept. 1 for Atlantic City, N. J., to spend the rest of the summer.

Dr. and Mrs. H. Spencer Edmunds and their children of Ronnoke, Va., will arrive today by motor to spend 10 days with the former's mother, Mrs. Laura S. Edmunds, 4425 Maryland avenue, and his sister, Mrs. Dean Edmunds. Mrs. Edmunds and her daughter have recently returned from Santa Monica, Cal., where they have been with Mrs. Edmunds' nieces, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Louise Spencer, daughters of Dr. Selden Spencer.

Dr. Spencer has joined his daughters and Miss Florence Petrus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Petrus, 4387 Westminster place, who accompanied Mrs. Edmunds' daughter and the Misses Spencer West. They will return to St. Louis about the middle of September.

Mr. and Mrs. James Martin Nelson Jr., 2 Dromard Lane, and their sons, Dines and James, are traveling in England following the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson's son, Lewis Cass Nelson, and Miss Margaret Irene Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Taylor, Blundellsands, Lancashire, England, at the home of the bride's parents, Aug. 15.

According to the London Daily Mail, Mr. Nelson and his bride had traveled nearly 20,000 miles to see each other three times. Following a holiday romance in Honolulu three years ago, Mr. Nelson went to Liverpool for his first visit and his bride has been twice to the United States. They are spending their honeymoon traveling in Europe. They will sail early in the fall for this country. Mr. Nelson will enter his senior year at Yale University in the autumn. His parents and his brothers are expected to return home at the same time.

Mrs. Nelson's mother, Mrs. Tyson Dines of Denver, who visited her home Sunday, has as her guest her cousin, Mrs. Robert E. Cason, 5271 Waterman avenue, who will visit her until about the last of October.

Miss Alice Roth, daughter of Mr. John H. Roth, 5523 Gates avenue, with her mother, and Mrs. M. H. Campbell, 5121 Waterman place, their daughter, Miss Gladys, and Miss Etta Harkness, arrived home Sunday from Grand Haven, Mich., where they remained for several weeks. On the way back they spent several days in Chicago. They made the trip by motor. Mrs. Campbell was hostess at a birthday dinner party last Saturday night at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in honor of Mrs. Louis A. Jackson of St. Louis. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson are occupying an apartment in Chicago for the summer.

Mr. Roth's niece, Mrs. Isaac T. Cook of the Gatesworth Hotel, and Mrs. Cook's young daughter, Polina, are spending the summer in Chicago, where they have been guests at the Seaford Hotel. Mrs. Cook, 5745 Sears Jr., is spending the late summer at Tepee Lodge in Wyoming.

Miss Jean Lungstram, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lungstram, 25 Wydown terrace, has returned from Atlantic City, N. J., where she spent the past six weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Bush, 8207 Waterman avenue, have returned from a visit of several weeks in the West. They visited at Yellowstone Park, Del Monte and Los Angeles, Cal. They also stopped at Chicago where they were guests for a few days at the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

Miss Katherine Brashear, daughter of Mrs. A. R. Brashear, 5730 Vernon avenue, has gone to New York for a visit of a month. While in New York she is a guest at the Junior League Club at the Waldorf-Astoria. She will also visit friends at Princeton, N. J. Before returning to St. Louis Miss Brashear will stop at Washington, D. C., for a visit with her brother-in-law and sister, Maj. and Mrs. W. F. Freshoff.

Miss Jane Folsom, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carter Folsom, 5049 Raymond avenue, will return home today from a visit of several weeks with friends in Chicago. Miss Folsom and her sister, Miss Bodine Keene Folsom, will be among the debutantes for the fall and winter seasons.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Luecke, 5258 Maple avenue, who have been stoppers at Bad Wildungen resort in Germany, will sail on the Europa Sept. 17 for this country. They visited the principal cities of Germany, Switzerland, Holland and Belgium before going to Bad Wildungen and will terminate their stay abroad by spending several weeks in Paris.

Miss Alice Roth, daughter of Mr. John H. Roth, 5523 Gates avenue, with her mother, has returned from a visit at Grand Haven, Mich., where they remained for several weeks. On the way back they spent several days in Chicago. They made the trip by motor. Mrs. Campbell was hostess at a birthday dinner party last Saturday night at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in honor of Mrs. Louis A. Jackson of St. Louis. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson are occupying an apartment in Chicago for the summer.

Mr. Roth's niece, Mrs. Isaac T. Cook of the Gatesworth Hotel, and Mrs. Cook's young daughter, Polina, are spending the summer in Chicago, where they have been guests at the Seaford Hotel. Mrs. Cook, 5745 Sears Jr., is spending the late summer at Tepee Lodge in Wyoming.

Mrs. Will K. Roth, 519 Woodstock drive, Clayton, who has been visiting Mrs. Denton H. Painter, 313 Edgewood drive, at her cottage in Holland, Mich., will arrive in Chicago Friday for a visit before returning home. Her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Roth, who make their home with her, are spending the summer in Kansas City, visiting relatives.

St. Louis guests at the Highland Park Hotel in Grand Haven include Mrs. and Mrs. Arthur Barnes of Webster Groves, who will leave shortly for Ludington, Mich., to spend the rest of the summer; and sister, Miss Evelyn Burmeyer, who Mr. and Mrs. George L. Weber, will return to St. Louis within a day of Webster, and the latter's week.

U. S. BOARD QUESTIONS DEAL BY POWER FIRM

Wants to Make Sure Sale of Clarion River Co. Does Not Impair Stock Value.

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—For the second time the Federal Power Commission yesterday demanded an accounting from the Clarion River Power Co.

In co-operation with the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission, the Federal Commission ordered the power company to file within 10 days "a complete report on the purported sale of its property to the Pennsylvania Electric Co." and to refrain from issuing or selling any securities without approval by the Federal Commission.

The Commission served similar notice on the Penn Central Electric Co., "either a customer or successor of the Clarion River Power Co."

Another item called for in the report was "proof that the purported transfer of property from one subsidiary of the Pennsylvania Electric Corporation to another subsidiary was not designed to impair or destroy the value of the $4,652,000 of preferred stock outstanding of the Clarion River Power Co."

A. F. O. L. REPORT DENIES BUSINESS HAS IMPROVED

The citizens of 126 cities $200,000,000 this year; it cost them approximately $175,000,000 last year. Yet relief payments are totally inadequate to meet the increased suffering at starvation levels, with undernourishment, sickness and insanity increasing. Relief has averaged one-fifth of their normal income. How many of us can keep alive on two per cent of our living standard? or keep up our rent and our buying from the butcher, grocer, clothing store? production cannot hold up if unemployment increases.

Yet the Federation found a slight ray of hope in the rising stock market which it said, indicated growing confidence. The bases of this confidence, it added, were:

The Lausanne agreement, the end of raids on our gold and restored confidence in our dollar, the checking of bank failures, better farm prices and powerful Government aids to recovery.

The Federation was doubtful whether the Government aids would bring permanent help to the workers.

"Congress," the survey said, "has put powerful instruments for business improvement in the hands of the administration. Are they to be used for permanent organization or simply to perpetuate wrong principles and mistakes? The new instruments:

New Ways to Improvement.

(1) New loaning powers to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation allowing $1,500,000,000 for "self-liquidating" loans to create employment. (2) New credit facilities for farms. (3) Power of the Farm Reserve Board to lend directly to business. (4) Powers to nationalize banks to issue currency based on Government bonds, and, (5) The Home Loan Bank system.

"Government can use these new facilities to restore economic balance and lay foundations for orderly business progress, or it can use them to increase business activity without permanent improvement. Unless the Government is watchful for the interests of all, power may be concentrated in the hands of a few who will use it for selfish ends injurious to the general welfare.

"Accomplishments thus far in extending credit have not been great. The part Congress granted to the Federal Reserve to loan directly to business was intended to unlock credit resources. Business needs long term loans for modernizing equipment—work which would create employment and buying power without requiring immediate payment. Private banks are not giving this kind of credit because they want to keep liquid. Government credit could start the wheels moving, but the Federal Reserve Banks have interpreted their new powers so that long term loans are ruled out."

Evidence of Curtailed Credit.

To substantiate the charge that private banks had refused to extend credit, the survey printed a graph based on Federal Reserve Board statistics showing that bank loans had decreased from $17,000,000,000 in August, 1932, to $11,000,000,000 in August this year.

"Banks are still withholding loans," the survey declared. "From January 8 to Aug. 10 more than $2,000,000,000 of credit was cut off from American business undertakings. In the last six weeks alone—June 29 to Aug. 10—banks withdrew $305,000,000. Credit is the lifeblood of business; production and trade cannot increase while it is being dried up."

Summing up the administration's activities, the Federation concluded:

"On the whole this program is not getting at fundamentals. It may help us start out of depression—and America wants prosperity. But is prosperity all we want? Working men and women are interested in the kind of business progress which will provide steady employment, rising wages, increasing leisure, security for themselves and their families. Lasting progress must be based upon plans which will secure stability."

"The administration program makes no effort for fundamental adjustments which lead to orderly progress in the future. As you work hours have not been

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 24.—Chinese papers print reports that Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, China's leader, has ordered the removal of Western Missouri, who died two years ago. He receives no salary and is dependent on voluntary assistance for his food and gasoline. Never has he lacked for either. He plans to leave today or tomorrow for Kansas City on his way to Utah, where he will do missionary work.

shortened. Nothing has been said about a more equitable distribution of the nation's income, nothing about economic planning which could keep business on an even keel. Unless these adjustments are made, prosperity will be no more lasting than it was before.

The depression has started men thinking. There is a deeper understanding of fundamentals now than ever before. Many are thinking more deeply and straight to the facts. It would be easier now to reorganize for a better economy than the time before, but will be after the depression is over. Now is the psychological moment to future progress. Unless we are able to advance progress on a broader base we shall be no further along the road."

You can't get away from the fact that

A SIX IS MORE ECONOMICAL

Just a moment, before deciding on that new low-priced car of yours. Have you lifted hoods—counted cylinders? And have you counted right—the right number for greatest economy of gas, oil, upkeep and maintenance?

There's no two ways about it: A six, as Chevrolet builds it, is the only type of engine you can get—and not sacrifice some important factor of economy!

Thousands of tests have proved . . . engineers have established . . . owner experience has confirmed THIS FACT: For lowest, all-round motorizing costs: SIX CYLINDERS. No more—No less!

Unless you do get SIX, one of two things is bound to happen: either you get too many cylinders—and sacrifice the economy for which Chevrolet is so famous. Or you don't get enough cylinders—and sacrifice the kind of maintenance cost that Chevrolet gives you—the lowest available in today's low-price market!

SAVE WITH SIX CYLINDERS

Why not strike a happy balance between "too many" and "too few"? Do as the majority of low-priced car buyers have done ever since January, 1931: SAVE—with SIX CYLINDERS. The Chevrolet six-cylinder engine gives you wonderful mileage on gasoline—and oil! It's so simple in design, so efficient in construction, that adjustments and servicing can be done easily, quickly, economically! And because its smoothness is built-in—the body, chassis and the engine itself are spared the repair costs that result from constant, inherent vibration!

STILL GOOD AFTER 15,000 MILES

Go ahead and buy that low-priced car you need. And be sure that the one you choose will perform just as well, and operate just as economically, six months from now—a year from now—as it does during the demonstration. Take the word of millions of owners—a Chevrolet will do that! Due to built-in smoothness, adequate weight and rugged construction, the Chevrolet Six stays young for 10,000, 15,000, 20,000 miles and more! Long past the point when owners might expect signs of wear, a Chevrolet carries on—smoothly, dependably, economically. Be sure, also, that your new car has every modern feature you're entitled to: Free Wheeling, for example; no car is up-to-date without it. And Syncro-Mesh shifting—genuine Syncro-Mesh as originated by General Motors—not an imitation. And big, luxurious, Fisher bodies, like those on costly cars. And four springs mounted lengthwise to the frame.

Remember, too—that you can switch to a 1932 Chevrolet for very little money. Chevrolet's new reduced prices are so low, and G. M. A. C.'s terms are so easy, you'll probably find it more economical to buy a new Chevrolet Six than to worry along with the old car any longer!

SIX CYLINDERS

NO MORE — NO LESS

For GREATEST ECONOMY and BUILT-IN SMOOTHNESS

With more than six cylinders you sacrifice economy
With less than six cylinders you sacrifice smoothness

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 22.—USTIN PARKER belongs to that larger-than-life group of writers who do not scorn the movies and yet manage to preserve their literary independence.

"Tomor o w," he remarked at lunch the other day, "may be in the ranks of the unemployed. I don't think I'd do a good job of them so I'm turning in my chips and leaving the game."

"The studio may have something else for me to do, or I may connect at some other studio. That's the advantage of not being under contract. If there's no other assignment, I'll just pack up and go down to Mexico for a vacation."

"But I like Hollywood, and that's funny because I came out a year and a half ago, expecting to loathe the place. I'd heard tales from writers who came back to New York, and I rather expected to be given an office and forgotten. Instead, they gave me an office and put me to work the same hour I arrived."

Parker has been on a series of long-term contracts, he says. "My relations with studios where I signed were pleasant enough, but I don't believe a writer can do his best work when he's assigned to a story he isn't particularly interested in," he explained. "Freelancing, I can take an assignment I like, or pass it up."

PARKER told me the hardest job on writing he ever did was turning out his first short story. He wrote, rewrote, tore up, and wrote again approximately 40,000 words for a 700-word story. Lee Tracy's work in "Blessed Event," in which he portrays a metropolitan gossip columnist, was submitted to down memories of his disagreement with Warner Bros. over his alleged unreliability.

He proceeded to go to work for Columbia and proved he was as capable as the next guy. His producer has been sending him for roles as quickly as possible. He's scheduled to play a world-famed press agent in "Phantom Fame" with Lupe Velez for Radio.

You sound like an Irish type,

with the milk-white skin for which they are noted. In this case black with a lot of white is most effective. "Sky blue" one of the old shades, will be good for eyeing capelet or cape collar, making a small coat for the shoulders, which is one of the new style features. Have this removable.

Dark green or brown for daylight, perhaps a new lightweight wool one-piece dress, to start the first fall days, with one of the shallow sailor or cap-like hats to match in fabric or fit. If you have not a pretty, good, warm coat, wait and get an English tweed or soft wool in Canada. But for just now, you will need your spring-weight clothes and some light-weight crepes, even a chiffon inner dress. If you are to indulge in a sports, but have not the clothes, you can buy these, too, to advantage in Canada.

SUIT FILED TO PUT FRISCO RAILWAY IN RECEIVERSHIP

Two Bondholders Say System Is Unable to Meet Current and Maturing Obligations.

930-31 DIVIDEND PAYMENT CRITICIZED

Readjustment Plan Called Inequitable — President Denies Insolvency, Roads to Oppose Action.

Suit for a receiver for the Frisco railroad was filed in Federal Court today by Charles and Dora R. Putnam of Baltimore, owners of $3500 in 4 per cent Series A prior lien carriage bonds of the railroad.

They charge that the railroad is insolvent through inability to meet current and shortly maturing obligations and that its plan of financial readjustment is unfair to holders of the prior lien bonds.

Their petition was filed by Louis Mayer, Irvin Rosenbaum and Clyde Wagner, St. Louis attorneys, and the New York law firm of Levy, Kraus and Leman.

Road to Oppose Action.

Mr. Mayer, president of the rail, announced the application for receiver would be vigorously opposed by the company.

"Counsel advise that there is no basis on which a bondholder can secure the appointment of a receiver at the present time, and that they have no doubt that the application will be dismissed," said Mayer.

"There is no default existing under the prior lien mortgage, or any other mortgage. No interest is due us prior lien bonds until Jan.

If adequate deposits are received under the readjustment plan by Sept. 1, which the company believes will be the case, the company expects to be able to pay the interest on consolidated bonds on that date, and to be able thereafter to carry out the readjustment plan."

The receivership petition sets with that at the end of last year the rail's current assets exceeded its current debts by about $24,000, and other borrowings by the road from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Railroad Credit Corporation.

Criticizes Dividend Payment.

The petition charges that directors declared and paid dividends not earned in 1930 and 1931, depleting assets that should have been conserved for bondholders. It quotes E. N. Brown of New York, chairman of the board, as stating recently that earnings available for interest charges in 1932 would not exceed $3,300,000, whereas fixed charges for the year would exceed $14,000,000.

The readjustment plan is intended to holders of the prior lien bonds the same charges in that they are asked to defer interest claims for at least five years and to accept for their bonds certificates not payable except in event of receivership or foreclosure of the mortgage.

On the other hand, the suit continues, holders of the subsidiary Kansas City, Fort Scott and Memphis Railway Co. bonds are asked to waive neither interest nor principal but merely to extend the maturity of their bonds and to receive one-third of a share of the rail's preferred stock and one-half $1000 in bonds.

Injunction Also Sought.

Neither preferred nor common stockholders are penalized under the plan, it is charged, except by issuance of a small additional amount of stock, and the same stock interests are continued in control at the expense of bondholders.

The suit asks for a receiver to conserve assets and for an injunction to restrain the railroad and its officers from disposing of properties. It requests that other bondholders, stockholders and creditors be permitted to intervene as interested parties.

Attorneys for the petitioners said they that they would draw a new readjustment plan, in co-operation with the railroad, if desired, for submission to the Court.

The attorney said that while the suit was brought in the names of only two bondholders, they were acting for "a very substantial group" of owners of the prior lien bonds.

Chairman Brown declared on Aug. 9 that unless the railroad's financial readjustment plan was carried out promptly, receivership of the road was inevitable.

The plan was completed last month as a result of the Interstate Commerce Commission's approval

AMELIA EARHART MAKES NON-TRANS-U.S.

Fails to Break Record, but Sets Mark for . . .

By the Associated Press.
NEWARK, N. J.,
Amelia Earhart Putnam, woman to fly across the Atlantic here at 10:30 standard time, came the first nonstop transoceanic flight.

The official time from Los Angeles, 7 hours, 7 minutes and 1 hour, 24 minutes ends more than the actual record of 17 hours and 59 seconds held by Hawkeye Putnam of Los Angeles yesterday, m., Pacific standard.

Although she failed to break the record this time, she distance flight record by exceeding the 24 hours record by 10 hours in her Oakland, Ky., flight.

The speed record for a transoceanic flight is 10 minutes and 55 seconds held by Doolittle. His flight was non-stop.

When she climbed high-wing Lockheed Putnam was almost as enthusiastic as the road to the tunnel.

Her first request for a nonstop record, please." She handed the thermos bottle of water on the flight, she it became so hot that she did not drink it.

She flew at 10,000 feet, 1000 miles and 125 miles an hour. The winds boosted her last 2000 miles to 1000 miles as she ran into thunderstorms.
